Welcome New Blades 2023. This year we are happy to present graduates representing six model making courses.

The exhibition is open from 10am to 10pm.

This year, more than any other, we have had to rely on the generosity of our show sponsors to allow the graduates to exhibit in central London. As always, we are extremely grateful for their support.

Special thanks have to go to our main show sponsors: Foster + Partners, Make, RSHP, Leviathan Workshop, Amalgam, Model Maker Group, Fixie, Prototype Projects, Ogle Models, 4D modelshop and Howells Architects.

We'd also like to thank our award sponsors, who will be judging their own winners and presenting individual awards throughout the show. Look out for the awards on graduate stands.

Best of Show

If you are a member of the Industry, you can vote for your 'Best of Show'. Please make sure you cast your vote before 8:30pm. We will announce the winner at 9:00pm when they will be presented their award.

The Thorp Archive is a unique collection of models, photographs, and documents charting the history of Thorp Modelmakers, the oldest architectural modelmakers in Britain. Now held by Arts University Bournemouth, the archive traces the origins and development of architectural modelmaking as a professional practice between the company's founding in 1883 and its purchase by ATOM in 1995.

The Archive contains over 50,000 items, including 12,000 photographs of architectural models made by Thorp, alongside thousands of documents, slides, negatives, and promotional materials.

A series of seven sample models made by John Thorp are also included in the collection. Records of the first 12,000 photographs to be catalogued can now be searched online, while the archive material can be viewed by appointment at Arts University Bournemouth.

To find out more about the archive, speak to Dr David Lund at the show or visit:
